

ABSTRACT

It is an object of the present invention to provide special
5 effects which will make a video game more realistic.

When a virtual light source exists in a three-dimensional virtual space, if a light from the light source extends toward a camera, a flare is generated on a screen because of incidence of the ray of light into a camera lens, thereby forming a dazzling picture in accordance with the state of backlight.

[illegible]